

Seminar Report: Skills Required While Moving From Campus to Corporate

Date: 19-02-2025

Conducted by: Safe Hands Support Foundation in partnership with Nawabi – Talent Developers

Target Audience: Master of Social Welfare 2nd Semester Students (2024-2026)

Objective: To equip students with the necessary skills and knowledge to successfully transition from academic life to the corporate world.

Summary:

This seminar, an initiative of the Safe Hands Support Foundation presented by Nawabi—Talent Developers, focused on bridging the gap between campus life and corporate expectations. It addressed the crucial skills required for students entering the professional field, emphasizing the shift from a comfortable academic environment to the demands of the corporate landscape.

Speakers from the Safe Hands Support Foundation highlighted key qualities essential for new employees: responsiveness, a strong work ethic, teamwork, stress management, and assertiveness. They emphasized the need for students to adapt and thrive in a professional setting.

The seminar also provided practical advice for students transitioning into the corporate world. Speakers stressed the importance of maintaining consistency, stepping outside one's comfort zone, effective time management, proactive problem-solving (avoiding excessive reliance on help), prioritizing health, self-awareness, risk tolerance, goal setting, and punctuality.

Key Discussion Points:

The speakers utilized engaging presentations, realistic examples, and interactive games to effectively convey these crucial skills. A significant portion of the seminar focused on employee rights, covering legal, statutory, and employment rights. This provided students with a foundational understanding of their entitlements in the workplace.

The seminar also addressed the corporate landscape, emphasizing work etiquette, professional etiquette, accountability/ownership, and the importance of developing strong networking skills. Speakers provided insights into navigating the professional environment and building positive working relationships.

Conclusion:

The seminar concluded with actionable strategies for students to maximize their success as future employees. The information presented provided a valuable roadmap for students to develop the necessary skills and mindset for a smooth transition from campus to corporate life. The seminar was highly informative and impactful, empowering students to proactively work on their professional development. Attendees are now better equipped to understand and meet the expectations of the corporate world.
